

SOLDIER MISSES HOLIDAY DINNER

Corporal Doody's Thanksgiving Day Passed in Day Hospital

PLATE WAITED AT HOME

Large Number of Philadelphia Fighting Men Invaliated Home

There was a plate waiting at 1613 South Taney street yesterday for Corporal John A. Doody, a wounded soldier, but he could not get home for the Thanksgiving feast. He spent the day in the hospital at Camp Dix, where he is waiting the day when he will be strong enough to make the trip home.

Corporal Doody is one of the large number of wounded Philadelphians who have been invaliated home to complete their recovery. Some of them were able to come to Philadelphia for the day. Doody arrived Saturday at Newport News. He was wounded by bursting shrapnel on his fourth trip over the top of Company M of the 31st Infantry.

Other Philadelphians in the detachment are Privates Antonio Vucolo, 7290 Avenue, Company B, Forty-eighth Engineers, William Street, 1934 Shamokin street, Company E, 109th Infantry; Raymond Decker, 7443 Rising Sun avenue, Company H, 109th Infantry; Charles D. Service Board May Put End to Skip-Stop

Necessity of increasing fares should not be unnecessarily discounted. Philadelphia fares, like other cities, are increasing from five cents to seven and eight cent fares, while this management, with the co-operation of the street car companies, is decreasing its costs of operation.

No plan is worth while which does not pay for itself, and the skip-stop system is no exception. The fatal accident of Wednesday, wherein a lad lost his life at Sixtieth street and Larchwood avenue, was caused by the sudden rubbing into the side of a car between the front and rear trucks while being chased by other children at play.

In reference to public opinion and because the follow-up check of our engineers found that these skip-stops were particularly objectionable, all skip-stops were immediately discontinued. The important curves around City Hall were yesterday re-established.

A careful investigation of each line has been being carried out by the company with the intention of removing all possible cause of reasonable criticism.

System Called Wholesale Murder
As a result of yesterday's mass-meeting held at within a short distance of the spot where the Brodsky boy was killed, an ordinance will be introduced in Council to compel the Transit Company to abandon the skip-stops.

Speakers at the meeting asserted the system is an instrument of wholesale murder, maintained by the company for the sole purpose of producing dividends. The meeting of protest represented every political faction. It was attended by five of the six Councilmen from that ward, the Forty-sixth; Magistrate Robert Carson, Harry A. Mackey, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Commission; heads of civic and improvement associations, business men and working men.

Citizens of the ward said they intend to learn when and why an ordinance was annulled which compelled, or supposedly compelled, the transit company to stop its cars at every important thoroughfare. And if that ordinance never was annulled, as several Councilmen and attorneys yesterday asserted, they intend to bring every pressure to bear upon the law and police departments of the city to enforce that regulation.

Issue for Councils
The power of regulation rests entirely with the governing body which permitted the company the use of the streets," explained Mr. Mackey, who called upon for a legal opinion. "I agree absolutely with Magistrate Carson that the remedy lies with Councils, and that they are the representative of the citizenship immediately and permanent relief may be had."

The Councilmen who attended the meeting were Ira D. Garrison, Select, and Dennis J. Grace, W. T. Colborn, Louis Karstaedt and J. Walter Thompson, Common. Francis F. Burch, of Common Council, who was away from the city, was the only absentee in the Forty-sixth ward councilmanic delegation.

over and the fuel administration order has been rescinded.
"The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company is arbitrarily maintaining the system now for its own profit, irrespective either of the convenience or safety of the people who support and maintain it, and upon whose streets its cars operate. It has sought to make a war innovation a permanent policy, to the detriment of the citizenship. The remedy lies with the governing body, Councils."

BEGIN DEMOBILIZATION AT CAMP MEADE TODAY

About 280 Men Discharged and Work Will Continue at 300 a Day

Camp Meade, Md., Nov. 28.—The demobilization of the development battalions here began this morning, when approximately 280 men were given their pay to date, honorable discharge certificates and started on their way to their homes. It was the first actual step toward the demobilization of the units in this camp, not a part of the Lafayette Division. About 300 more will be sent home tomorrow, and it is the hope of Major H. E. Hennessey, the camp personnel officer, to release about 300 every day, starting Monday, until all of the more than 2000 men in these units are sent home.

After his work has been completed with these units Major Hennessey will begin with the signal corps troops, the five companies of Virginia National Guard Coast Artillery, who were sent here when relieved of guard duty atmunition plants, the Depot Brigade and all other units not a part of the division. It is hoped to release at least 1000 of these men before Christmas.

Orders have been issued authorizing officers to resign if they care to leave the service at this time under the condition that their superiors feel that their services can be dispensed with. A very large percentage of the officers have elected to remain in the service as a part of the peace army, and it is feared there will be quite a surplus of officers after the thousands of men are sent to their homes.

The man forced an entrance to the Mankas home and took more than $500 from Mrs. Mankas' pockets. He charged, jumping from bed, Mankas seized the man by the neck. The latter fired a backkick, it is said, and made a dash for the door, but was held by Mrs. Mankas and attempted escape through a window. Mrs. Mankas grabbed him by the coat, and shouted for the police. Patrolman Sweeney took the negro to City Hall. The prisoner said he was James Harris, Youth Center street, and he held without bail for court by Magistrate Meachery.

Good Will Given a New Impetus
A statement of Dodge Brothers war activities is due the owners of their cars.
Dodge Brothers refrained, during the progress of the war, from any reference to the performance of the car in Government service.
It seems proper now, however, to disclose the facts, because they are creditable facts—intensifying that good will which owners of Dodge Brothers cars have always manifested.
Dodge Brothers car was the only one of its class approved and adopted by the War Department.
In a separate Ordnance Works, built especially for the purpose, costing millions of dollars and employing thousands of their skilled motor workmen, Dodge Brothers undertook an important duty designated by the War Department.
Without the aid of their great motor organization, Dodge Brothers could not have fulfilled the heavy obligation which they were asked to assume by the Ordnance Department.
The other service required of Dodge Brothers motor works, by the Government, was to continue to furnish their cars as they were needed.
They were furnished, not in hundreds, but in thousands—both for the training camps here, and for service in Belgium, France and Italy.
The record of those thousands of camp and army cars is one in which any owner may feel the utmost pride and satisfaction.
Their performance justified the compliment implied in their selection by the Government.
The great works in which nearly three hundred thousand of their cars have been produced in the past four years furnished a vast store-house of human energy and equipment for the ordnance work.
Naturally, it will take time to adjust the motor works to its full accustomed activity.
Gradually Dodge Brothers will resume the grateful task of continuing to deserve the good will of America—and indeed of the whole world.
Dodge Brothers consider good will their most valuable possession. They will never knowingly do anything to lessen it.
